Tutoring Experience

For the past 14 years, I've worked with students from Singapore and internationally, helping them excel in Chemistry across various curriculums. My focus has been on building a strong understanding of core concepts in IB, A-Level, and IGCSE Chemistry, ensuring students are well-prepared for exams. I've also successfully guided students through AP Chemistry.

My extensive experience includes working with students preparing for competitive entrance exams such as SAT Chemistry, and I've provided tailored support for those seeking to improve their exam techniques. I'm passionate about seeing my students achieve their full potential, and many have gone on to attend prestigious universities.

Additionally, I've taught students from different educational backgrounds, helping them transition smoothly between curriculums. My approach is designed to develop critical thinking and problem-solving skills, allowing my students to confidently tackle complex Chemistry problems in any context.
